

BMW Orphan List

Let's say you have an engine sitting in your garage, and you'd like to find the frame that it came out of. It would be a long shot that someone has already listed the frame, but check anyway. Then ( it probably wasn't there ) e-mail your request to the address below along with your intentions and we will post the information.

Here's another scenario: Maybe you don't need that engine and you'd be interested in passing it along ( that translates as 'selling, swapping or through moments of generosity, giving'). Hopefully, someone out there has the original frame and will see your posting. They will be able to contact you directly through your e-mail. Of course, you know how to take it from there.

Oh, you are doubtful about this working at all? Believe me, I found an original 1938 engine and returned it to the frame that it came with when new. That was before the orphaned parts list, which is meant to aid us in these sorts of challenges.

If you do find a frame or engine in this list that you've been looking for and make contact to bring them together, please email me so that we can then remove the entry from this list.
